

Election Success

Proven ways to win

Gay Campbell, APR
&
Jeanne Magmer, APR

National School Public Relations Association

15948 Derwood Road
Rockville, MD 20855
Phone: (301) 519-0496
FAX: (301) 519-0494
www.nspra.org

Contents

Set the stage.	17
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ❑ Make effective, two-way communications a year-round effort that starts with staff and targets key audiences. 	18
Think teaching, learning cycle for communications	19
Every community is different	19
Staff are the frontline communicators	20
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ❑ Ask community members about their thoughts and values. Listen to their responses. 	20
Listen and learn what community members think, value	20
Target your communications	22
The method for delivering messages matters.	22
▪ Mass communications provide information:	23
▪ Interpersonal communications change attitudes:	23
Conduct a survey to determine messages	24
Rationale for survey questions	25
Sample survey questions	27
▪ Sample job rating questions:	27
▪ Sample agree/disagree questions:	27
▪ Sample open-ended questions:	27
▪ Sample information source questions:	28
▪ Sample demographic questions:	28
Use your survey	28
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ❑ Conduct a communications assessment. 	29
Get an objective assessment, call in the experts	29
Ask the right questions.	29
What's the focus of our communications? Does it need to change?	29
Are we emphasizing interpersonal communications?	30
Do we have an effective Key Communicators network?	31
Are we creating understanding — face-to-face?	31
How effective are our electronic communications?	32
How transparent are our operations?	32
Does our strategic planning process involve a wide segment of community members?	33
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ❑ Gather data about your community's demographics. 	33
Conduct focus groups	33
Learn from census data	34
Complete the "know your community" exercise	35
Communications planning form	44
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ❑ Learn how winners set the stage. 	45
Minooka (IL) Community High School District	45

Martin County (FL) School District	47
Bainbridge Island (WA) School District	47
Build your base	59
❑ First things first: Get staff on board.	60
❑ Keep controversies to a minimum.	61
❑ Know and register key voters.	61
Find out who's registered and who isn't	61
Tips for registering key voter groups	62
Keep track of who you register	63
Community resources to help register voters.	63
Handle voter records with care	63
❑ Build financial credibility and communicate your budget.	64
Develop a budget information plan	68
Sample budget information plan	69
▪ Target group: District staff members	69
▪ Target group: Parents of District Students	71
▪ Target group: Building/Facility Users, including community school attendees/volunteer instructors	73
▪ Target group: Community Leaders	74
▪ Target group: People with no school-age children.	75
▪ Target group: Area reporters and editors	76
❑ Develop an election timeline.	77
Election timeline tasks	77
❑ Involve the community in election decision-making.	79
Appoint advisory committees	80
Avoid pitfalls	80
Types of committees	81
Define expectations	82
Select members	83
Support the committee's work	86
Keep community informed about committee's work	88
Use community forums for public input	88
An informal atmosphere that invites participation	88
Why this type of forum works	89
Participation	89
❑ Know your state's election laws.	90
Separate information from advocacy	91
General guidelines for elected officials	91
General guidelines for public employees	91

General guidelines for use of facilities, equipment	92
General guidelines for distribution of election information	92
<input type="checkbox"/> Organize your advocacy effort.	93
Advocacy campaign structure	93
Identify campaign resources	95
<input type="checkbox"/> Consider using consultant assistance.	96
<input type="checkbox"/> Learn how winners built their bases.	97
Oyster Bay-East Norwich (NY) Central School District	97
Newark (OH) City Schools	98
North Clackamas (OR) School District	98
San Diego (CA) City Schools	100
Conduct research	101
<input type="checkbox"/> Gather data to identify voters you need to reach.	102
Advocacy vs. information research	102
<input type="checkbox"/> Use your records from past elections to make key decisions that will help you win.	103
Secondary research yields valuable clues	103
Where to find secondary research	103
Previous elections tell you a lot	104
Election history—a guide to basic decisions	104
▪ Sort precinct list by months elections were held	105
▪ Sort precinct list by types of measures	105
▪ Sort precinct list in chronological order by election date	105
Determining the best time, date for your election	106
Precinct-by-precinct information	107
Where to get precinct results data	107
Formatting precinct data	107
Try a little color	109
One district's precinct data	109
A profile of your voters—hard to win without it	111
Where to get data	111
Information to look for	111
What you can learn	112
Other ways to use your voter profile worksheet	114
Other secondary research you may need	114
<input type="checkbox"/> Work with a professional research firm to design and conduct a survey that forms the foundation for making decisions about all facets of your district information and community advocacy campaigns.	115
Primary research: Your must-have survey	115
An accurate guide for your organization	115
A blueprint for your advocacy committee	115

Who pays for the survey? Advocacy or information?	116
Survey cost too high? Try losing!	117
Use the right survey method	117
Find the right survey firm	118
▪ Specify what you want the survey firm to do	118
▪ Evaluate survey firm proposals	119
▪ Basic survey steps	119
□ Gather information the board needs to make decisions.	122
Types of questions and how to use them	123
Demographics: key to separating data to plan a win	124
Typical survey questions	125
Check the demographics	127
Use the results	127
Keep your survey on your desk	127
Take the results seriously	127
▪ Money may not be the issue	128
▪ The real issue may not be what's on the ballot	128
Report back to your community	128
Act on your survey results	128
Other survey methods: Kinds and costs	129
What if you absolutely cannot afford to hire a survey firm?	130
Poor research is almost worse than none	131
□ Start working on the facts and figures that will give you an election plan that has the best chance of winning.	132
Do you have the data you need for planning your election?	132
Are you ready to analyze your data?	132
Before you move on, take time to close the loop	133
Identify roles and responsibilities	133
▪ School board members:	133
▪ District administrators and staff:	134
▪ Advocacy committee members:	134
□ Learn how winners conduct research.	134
Beaverton (OR) School District	134
Stillwater (CO) Area Schools	135
McMinnville (OR) School District	135
Analyze the data.	137
□ Begin your advocacy campaign by finding your supporters and determining the number of votes needed to win.	139
1. How many votes do you need to win?	139
2. Can you win if you turn out all voters?	141
3. Are there enough "yes" votes in some geographic areas to win the election?	141

4. Do your best precincts add up to a win?	141
5. Do your most frequent voters support this measure? How can you capitalize on that?	142
6. Can you use frequency of voting to win?	142
7. Have you found enough “yes” votes to win?	144
8. Still unsure if you have a win? Find each “yes” voter.	144
9. Haven’t found enough “yes” votes to win?	144
□ Identify messages that increase your odds of winning.	145
The power of the right message to the right person	146
So, what is your “push”?	147
□ Identify strategies to deliver key messages to “yes” voters	149
Plan how to use your data for your advocacy messages	149
Determine campaign method	151
The right strategy for our campaign	151
What’s our competition?	152
□ Use the research analysis to guide your district information campaign.	152
Research-based messages are noticed	152
Check again. Are key voters registered to vote?	155
Next step is planning	155
□ Learn how winners analyze data.	155
Pattonville (MO) School District	155
Lawrence Township (NJ) School District	156
Sherwood (OR) School District	156
Orland Park (IL) School District	156
Plan your campaigns.	159
□ Develop a district information campaign that includes personal communications as well as mass communications.	161
Establish a timeline	161
Include these communications.	161
Develop a plan for each school	164
A workshop to help schools plan.	164
A guide for planning at the school level	164
If separate planning for each building is not feasible, follow the district’s plan	166
Keep basic communication concepts in mind	167
□ Plan an advocacy campaign committed to a research-based method of winning.	168
Identify individual “yes” voters	168
Review your campaign structure	169
Tough campaigns require a shift in thinking	170
Selling the new way	170
Traditional vs. research-based campaign methods	170

▪ Traditional campaign methods vs. research-based methods	171
Establish a budget	171
Where to get the money and “in-kind” contributions you need	172
Estimate potential contributions conservatively.	172
Next steps for building your campaign budget	173
Recruiting and using volunteers	173
How many phone calls do you need to make?	174
How many phone volunteers do we need?	175
Consider how votes are cast	175
Absentee and mail ballots	175
▪ Timing.	176
▪ Teaching voters to use mail ballots	176
▪ Poll watching	176
Early voting	176
Develop a research-based theme	176
□ Prioritize advocacy activities and assess resources needed to carry out the campaign.	177
Recommended activities for research-based campaigns	178
Voter registration	178
Individual “yes” voter identification.	179
Targeted direct mail.	179
▪ Types of direct mail	180
▪ Personalized direct mail	180
▪ Brochures	181
▪ Mailed brochures and fliers.	182
Get-out-the-vote and poll watching	182
Internal get-out-the-vote efforts	183
Activities with both research-based and traditional campaign applications	183
Canvass or blitz.	183
Door-to-door follow-up	184
Letters to the editor, reader comment blogs	185
Speakers’ bureau	186
Electronic communications	186
Traditional campaign activities	187
Payroll staffers, brown bag lunches and coffees	187
Lawn signs	187
Newspaper advertising	188
Radio advertising.	188
Television advertising.	189
Billboards	189
Determine budget for campaign elements, activities	190
□ Build campaign team support for your plan.	202
Prepare for your election workshop.	202

Invite the right people	204
Finalize agenda and conduct planning workshop	204
Preparation	204
Arrangements	204
Agenda and activities	205
❑ Learn how winners plan.	212
Everett (WA) School District	212
Sample election timelines	216
Carry out your plans.	221
❑ Implement a district information plan which emphasizes personal communications and supports school and department information plans.	223
Start early—get out of the way!	223
Get and keep staff on board	224
Put power into your information materials	225
First impressions stick	226
Inform the news media	226
Match media contacts to your data	227
Get editorial or media endorsements	228
Research-based publications get the attention they deserve	228
Your materials reflect who you are	234
Ballot language is important	234
One-page fact sheet	235
PowerPoint® presentations	237
District Web site	237
Community meetings	237
District mailings	237
Support building & department plans	239
Personalize school materials	244
If your school buildings are election sites	244
Continue district information efforts through election day	244
Election day	246
❑ Implement an advocacy committee plan using the step-by-step process that gives your campaign the best chance of winning.	247
Swing into action	247
Use consultant services effectively	248
Know what the district is doing	248
Schedule regular team meetings	248
Money—how are you doing?	249
Set up a campaign headquarters	249
Target messages	250
Develop campaign materials	250
Deliver the message that makes the difference	252

Personalize printed materials	254
Personal contact is critical – telephone, door-to-door	254
Why make phone calls?	256
Get some tasks under way immediately	256
Set up your phone bank	256
Why a phone bank? Why not just call from home?	256
Script phone messages carefully.	257
▪ Things to note about scripts:	259
Greet and train phone callers	259
Phone bank activities	260
Keep track of “yes” voters	260
▪ Use data base software to streamline your campaign.	263
▪ What about “no” and “maybe” voters?	263
▪ Reconfirm “yes” votes	264
Electronic communications	264
Hiring someone else to do it—the impersonal way	265
Door-to-door canvassing	266
A different kind of canvass—talking only to “yes” voters.	267
Pitfalls to avoid.	268
Resist the urge to advertise	268
Avoid losing volunteers.	268
Analyze opposition, respond appropriately	269
Deal proactively with loud, organized opposition.	270
Get out the vote	272
Use surveys to track progress.	272
Absentee ballots and early voting.	273
Get your “yes” votes in.	273
▪ Once may not be enough	274
▪ Get ready for election day	274
▪ Election day: pull in “yes”	275
▪ Why this last minute push?	276
<input type="checkbox"/> Learn how winners carry out their plans.	277
Minooka (IL) Community High School District	277
Springfield (OR) Public Schools.	278
Evaluate the results	281
<input type="checkbox"/> Take time to say thanks.	282
<input type="checkbox"/> Review how well your research-based campaign worked.	283
District information: Where do we need to concentrate our efforts?	285
Advocacy committee: Precinct-by-precinct—what worked?	285
If you identified “yes” voters.	286
Other types of analysis if you identified “yes” voters	288

Did calling out your “yes” voters make a difference?	288
Who voted in this election?	288
Summarize, record what you learned	290
<input type="checkbox"/> Communicate work in progress.	293
For operating fund expenditures	293
For building and improvement projects	294
<input type="checkbox"/> Learn how winners evaluate	295
Gladstone (OR) School District	295
Minnetonka (MN) School District	295
Carrollton-Farmers Branch (TX) Independent School District	295
21 Oregon school district winners	296

