

This video was created to bring positive attention to a school that was suffering student retention issues following several on-campus issues. The video was featured on YouTube, Instagram and Facebook where collectively it earned hundreds of views, and also was featured as part of a paid streaming ad campaign.