

Our school district set out to promote kindness week. To do so, one school handed students chalk and encouraged them to draw and/or write their definition of kindness on the blacktop. The video was posted on all of our social media platforms and YouTube. It resonated with our community to show that kindness is easy to achieve and costs nothing.