

We wanted to share a warm welcome with new students who may be nervous about entering school for the first time. We utilized it on social media with the hopes of reaching new students and their families. Our kindergarten students shared advice for future students on how to make the best of the new experience. The simple reel-style videos recieved nearly 20,000 views and were well-received by families.