

Our school district has been a destination for families for generations. To celebrate those who chose Troy in years past and to share their success with our families of today, we produced this video series on our alumni and their various careers. This series serves as a wonderful opportunity to demonstrate how the Troy School District prepares students and also offers advice for current students who are interested in the featured careers and industries. Shared on YouTube, social media, and as alumni news in our weekly newsletter, these videos receive hundreds of views from both former and current students and families. The sentiments shared in these videos continue to demonstrate the high-quality public education offered in Troy. These positive where are they now stories are always popular within our community. We are thankful to these alumni for helping to inspire future generations in Troy.
